From the end of May through September, twenty-seven State University of New York colleges and universities from Long Island to Plattsburgh, Fredonia to Albany, invite vacationers to visit their campus art galleries to enjoy a series of unique I Love New York Ceramics exhibits celebrating the art of clay. In individual exhibitions, SUNY galleries will feature today's most interesting approaches to clay in traditional and contemporary forms, tracing the ongoing evolution of ceramic art and, most important, presenting the best of New York's own artists. From historical to contemporary, the different SUNY exhibits feature utilitarian pottery, sculptural and non-functional pieces, and delightful fantasies in clay, so popular with artists and the public today. Visitors will see pieces ranging from fine examples of classical Greek pottery revealing the sophisticated artistic expressions of an ancient culture to the most contemporary experiments in the ceramic art field by the outstanding artists and craftsmen that distinguish New York State.
